Mustangs, you are AMAZING, and we are so glad you are here!

Next Step, Recovery

The impact of the COVID-19 pandemic is widespread and continues to spread. Education is certainly one of those areas where we are seeing and feeling the impacts of increased student absences, teacher absences and inconsistent forms of instruction. The data shows that students across the country are performing lower on state and national assessments compared to previous years prior to the pandemic. Montabella is no different and our local data shows similar results. A number of students appear to be about a year behind academically.

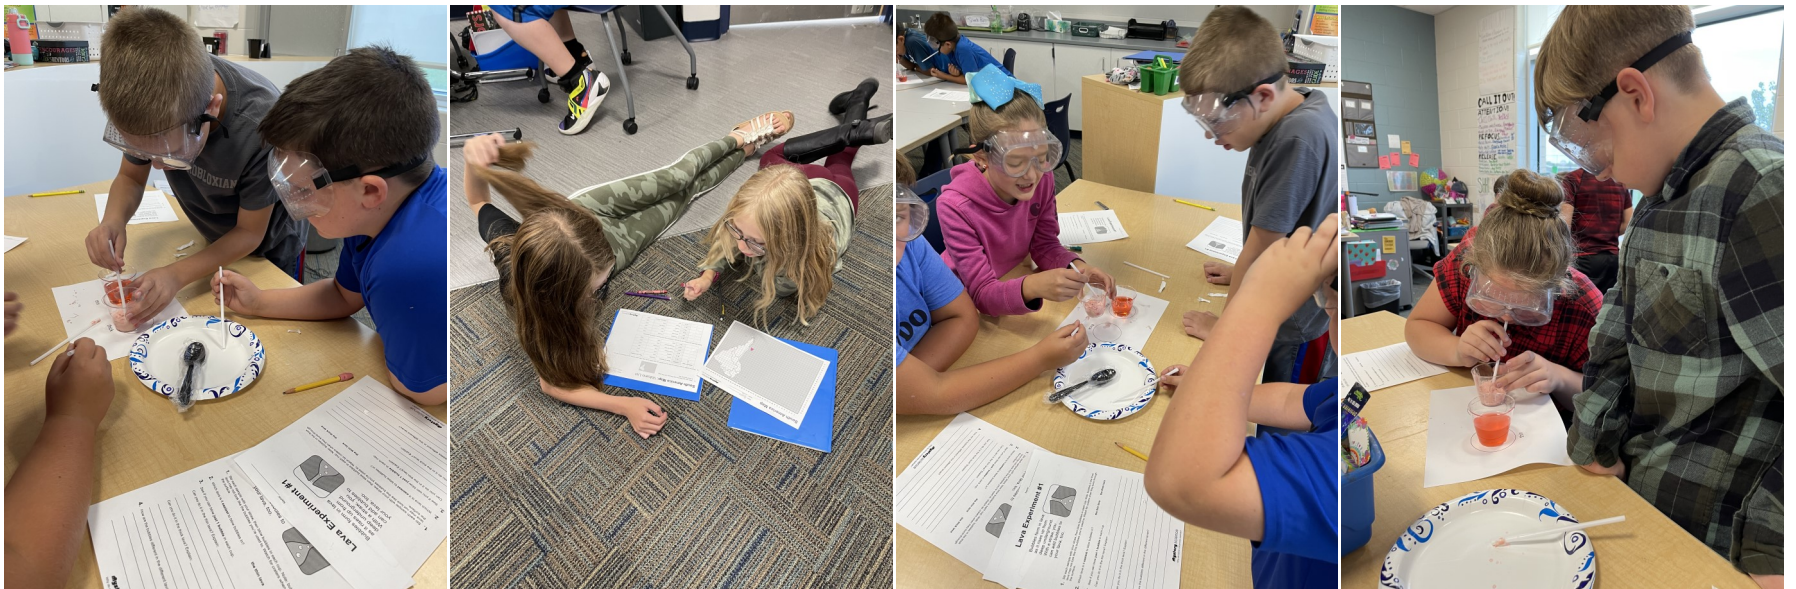

What do we do about it? There is no magic answer that can make up a year of academic growth overnight but there are some strategies and practices that we can be put in place to help reduce that gap. Montabella has already started some practices and we will continue to evaluate and increase or add strategies over the next few years to continue to reduce the gap. Here are some of those strategies that are in place currently or in development: summer school opportunities, additional intervention teacher at the elementary level, credit recovery opportunities, tutoring, and additional english classes focused on interventions.

In addition to the academic struggles we are also seeing some increased social emotional needs. The district has partnered with the Montcalm Care Network and Spectrum Health to provide increased opportunities for counseling. Students are feeling the stress of the pandemic and the aftermath it has created. It might be struggling academic performance or just lost social or school opportunities that are weighing heavy on their minds. These services can be accessed by reaching out to the school principal.

We are facing a tough challenge right now and we all understand that we can't fix the issue overnight or even in a year. Our focus is to try and see if we can get over a year of growth from our students this school year. Taking this challenge step by step we are convinced we will see some progress in reducing that academic gap.

Admit One

The JV and Varsity Volleyball teams took a field trip to MSU for high school volleyball night for team bonding and learning. We had 18 girls along with some chaperones to help us get down there. The girls were able to watch MSU take on OSU and bring home some good take aways from the game to apply to the court. OSU ultimately took home the win after going into extra points in the first two sets and then 18-25 in the third.
